Summary

This report presents the findings from the monitoring of Kosovo's Program for Preventing and Reducing Administrative Burdens (ABR) during 2023–2024. The monitoring focused on assessing primary and secondary legal acts which were examined by the Strategic Planning Office (SPO), through the lens of administrative burden, with a particular emphasis on simplifying procedures and promoting digitalization of services. Out of 248 reviewed acts, 82 were found relevant for ABR purposes, leading to detailed comments and, in many cases, drafting support from the SPO.

The review process by SPO prioritized acts that regulate services and administrative procedures directly impacting citizens and businesses—such as licensing, permits, and registration—while also promoting e-governance principles. Despite notable progress, including financial savings and service simplifications, the report identifies challenges like uneven institutional responsiveness and limited capacity to address administrative burdens embedded in sub-legal acts.

The process received positive evaluations from the European Commission and OECD/SIGMA, which acknowledged Kosovo's progress in reducing administrative burdens. However, continued efforts are necessary to strengthen institutional coordination, enforce systematic review of legislation, and ensure that the ABR principles are integrated into all relevant legal drafting processes.

Introduction

In response to the need for improving public administration and providing more efficient services for citizens and businesses, the Group for Legal and Political Studies (GLPS) is implementing the EU-funded project "ACT NOW- Supporting Public Administration Reform and Rule of Law through Fighting Corruption and Improving Service Delivery." The second component of this project aims to support reforms in public administration and strengthen the rule of law, with a particular focus on the implementation and monitoring of the Program on Administrative Burden Reduction 2022-2027 (ABR Program).<sup>1</sup> A key activity of the component involves the systematic monitoring and analysis of ABR's implementation. This initiative aims to simplify administrative procedures, eliminate unnecessary burdens, and improve the legal framework to create a more efficient public administration. Through a systemic approach, the project addresses the critical challenges of reform by leveraging data-driven analysis and promoting the involvement of civil society in decision-making processes.

ABR Program is one of the central commitments of the Government of the Republic of Kosovo, aimed at creating a more efficient and citizen-friendly public administration. The program focuses on preventing, simplifying, and eliminating administrative procedures, reducing unnecessary burdens, and improving the legal framework without compromising the functionality and effectiveness of existing laws and regulations. Based on governmental strategies for better governance and public administration reform, the program aims to simplify and digitalize administrative services at the central and local levels, eliminate excessive practices, and reduce time and costs for citizens and businesses.

As part of the Action Plan 2022-2024, the program's primary objectives include reducing administrative burdens for obtaining licenses and permits, digitalizing over 150 services by 2024, and achieving financial savings for citizens and businesses exceeding €6 million by 2024.<sup>2</sup> The program incorporates concrete measures, including the simplification and digitization of public administrative services at the central level, simplification of services based on real-life events, strengthening institutional coordination and capacities for reducing administrative burden, simplification of municipal services, and enhanced communication and awareness-raising among institutions and the public.<sup>3</sup> The ABR program itself has two main goals, the reduction of the administrative burden which is already part of the obligations which derive from the legislation in force and the prevention of administrative burden by providing comments and proposals on new initiatives of both, public policies (concept documents) and legal (draft laws and by-laws) to prevent potential administrative burden. The means for reduction and prevention are the same, namely administrative simplification and re-engineering of procedures, but the difference lies in the fact that the reduction is done as an initiative in itself for changes in the current legislation (life events, harmonization of special laws with the Law on General Administrative Procedure and the Law on Permits and Licenses, etc.) while prevention is done in the early stages of drafting concept documents, drafting legislation, preliminary consultations and public consultations. Prevention, as part of the ABR framework and especially in the context of reviewing primary legislation for administrative burden, is also included as a reform priority in the Kosovo's Reform Agenda, within the Growth and Reform Facility, adopted by the European Commission.

As a special tool for reducing the administrative burden and improving the provision of services is digitalization. Digitalization plays a central role in the ABR process and is identified by the Programme as a key instrument in reducing administrative burden, primarily through centralized platforms such as e-Kosova, which aim to simplify procedures, improve access and quality of services, reduce costs, and enhance service delivery for citizens and businesses.<sup>4</sup> Furthermore, consultations with the business

This monitoring report provides data on the implementation of ABR measures during the 2023-2024 period, including the review and processing of legislation, the economic impact of reforms, and institutional challenges. Using infographics, the report visually presents the data collected from the institutions responsible for implementing the ABR program. The report evaluates 248 legal acts on the period from June 2023 to December 2024 that were subject of screening under ABR program.

This report reflects on the progress made and highlights the areas requiring further action, providing an evidence-based foundation for advancing the ABR program in the coming years.

Findings from Monitoring the ABR program

This section presents the key findings from the analysis of the implementation of the ABR Program in relation to the reviewed legal acts by the Office for Strategic Planning (OSP) at the Office of the Prime Minister (OPM). During the period from June 2023 to December 2024, a total of 248 legal acts were reviewed, including both primary and secondary legislation. In this context, it is important to emphasize that in 2024, work in the area of prevention has been systematic, and the year has been comprehensively covered in this regard.

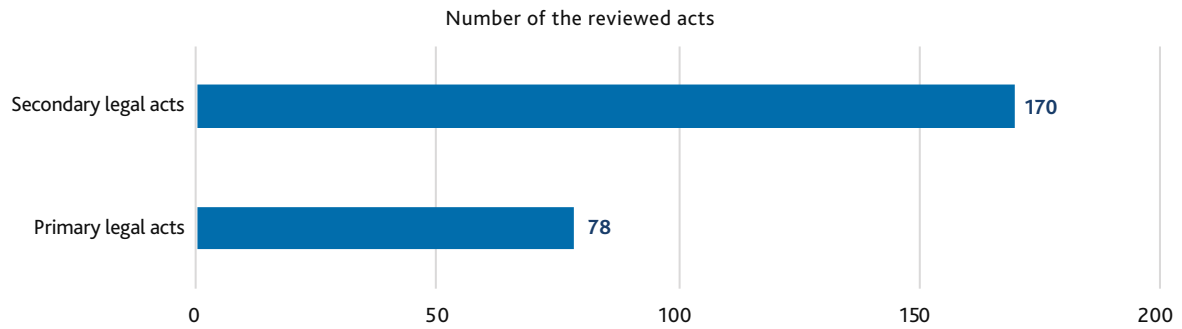

The methodology used to assess legal and sub-legal acts under the ABR Program was centered on identifying their relevance to administrative burden based on clear criteria. Normative acts were considered relevant if they regulated the provision of services or included administrative procedures that directly affected citizens or businesses. These included legal requirements such as licenses, permits, authorizations, registrations, and the structuring of service delivery processes. Normative acts not containing these elements were classified as irrelevant for ABR purposes.

SPO ensured that the reviewed acts, whether primary or secondary legislation acts, were assessed from the perspective of service design and administrative procedure. Additionally, SPO worked to promote digitalization throughout the review process. Thus, SPO's role was limited to commenting on procedural aspects and supporting digitalization, without assessing legal compliance or constitutional matters, which remain the responsibility of legal departments of proposing institutions.

The process faced several challenges. A major one was the delayed start of systematic reviews, with many laws and sub-legal acts already drafted or passed before the ABR check became mandatory in mid-2023. This timing issue meant that a significant number of acts escaped early scrutiny for administrative burden. Moreover, during 2024, legislative focus shifted towards finalizing previously initiated initiatives as the government term approached its end. This reduced the opportunity for new legislation specifically targeting administrative burden reduction.

All data related to the names of the acts, links to the published ones, responsible institutions, comments provided and addressed, as well as simplified services, can be found in Annex 1 (Primary legal acts) and Annex 2 (Secondary legal acts) of this report.

Primary legal acts review

Out of the 78 primary legal acts reviewed, 76 were examined by the SPO for ABR purposes, while 2 remained unreviewed. Following the review, 17 acts were identified as relevant for ABR, whereas 61 were deemed irrelevant, as they did not impact administrative processes or service delivery.<sup>6</sup>

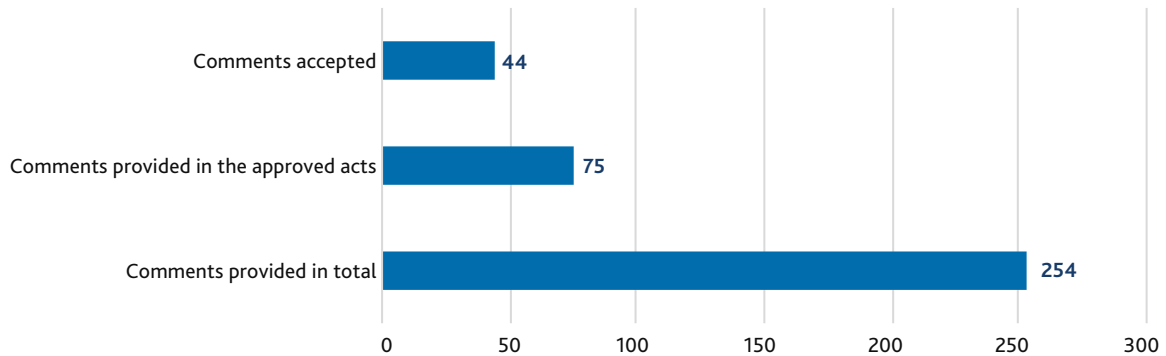

From the 17 relevant legal acts, SPO either commented on or drafted them. 11 acts were commented on within the ABR context, 2 acts were fully drafted, 2 acts were still under the commenting process, and 2 acts remained unreviewed by the end of the monitoring period.

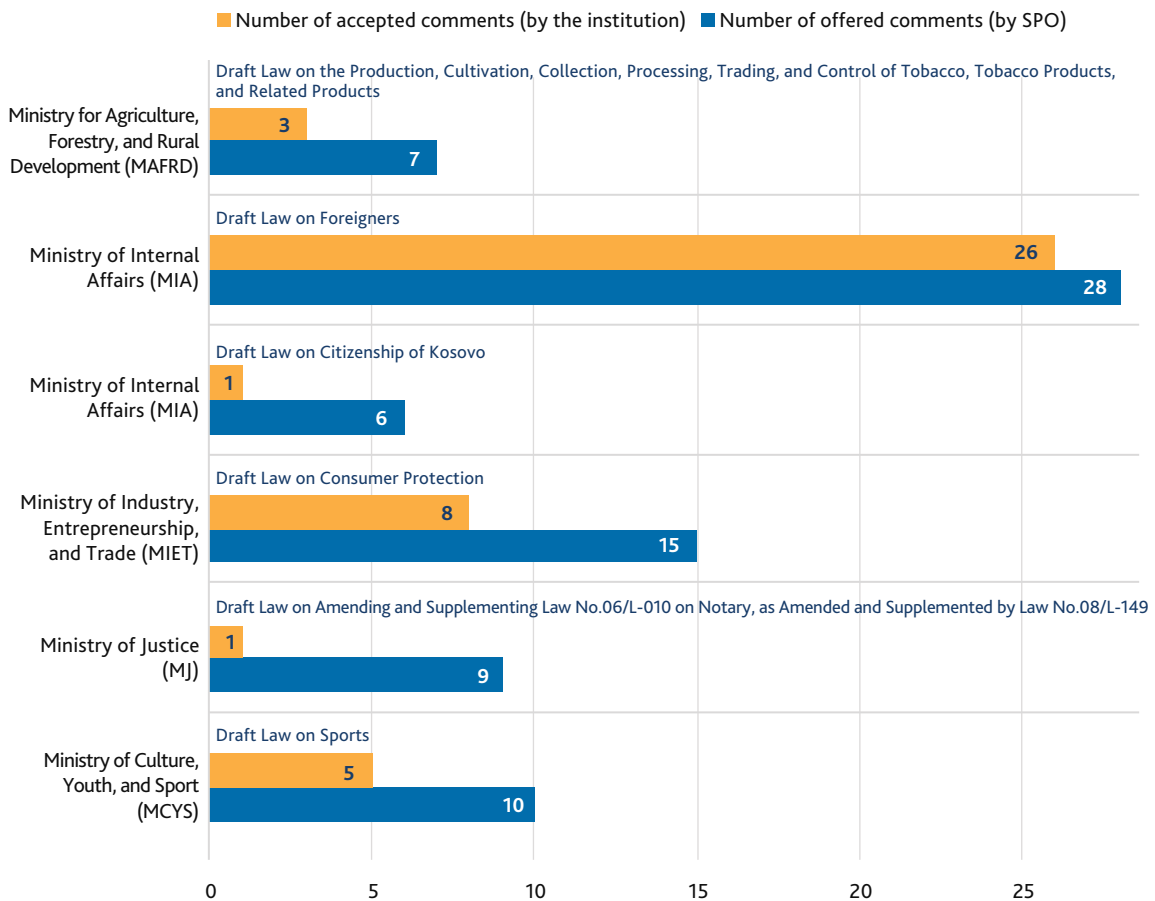

<sup>6</sup> Primary and secondary legislation acts were assessed as relevant for ABR if they contained provisions regulating services or their provision to citizens and businesses, such as licenses, permits, registrations, consents, authorizations, certifications, etc. Additionally, acts were considered relevant if they regulated service processes including waiting periods, organization, maintenance, allocation of responsibilities, procedural design, establishment of bodies, or any procedural steps within an administrative procedure. Acts that did not contain these elements were categorized as irrelevant for ABR.

A total of 254 comments were provided on 11 acts. Out of these, 6 acts were approved by the Government. For the remaining acts still in process, it is not yet possible to assess whether the comments will be addressed. In the approved acts, a total of 75 comments were provided, of which 44 were addressed by the proposing institutions.

The level of responsiveness varied across institutions, with some ministries addressing a higher number of comments than others. The breakdown of accepted comments by each proposing ministry is presented below:

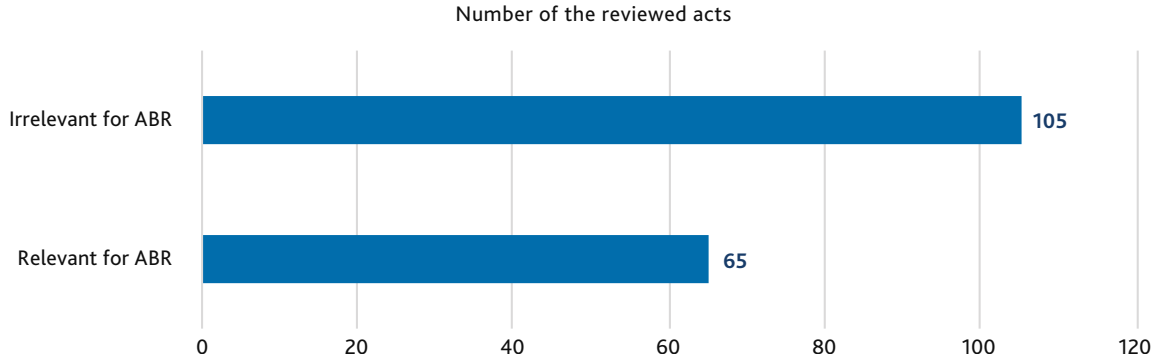

From the 12 commented acts and the 2 drafted acts, a total of 11 services were simplified, as listed below:

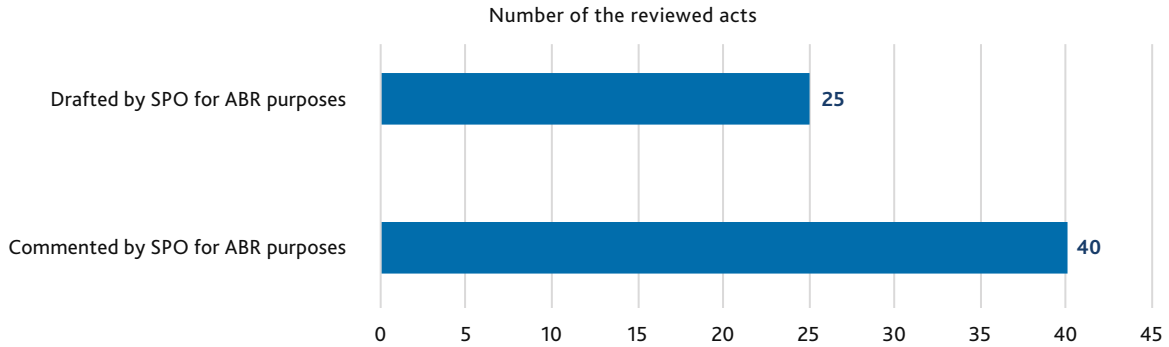

1. Registration of Sports Federations (Draft Law on Sports)
2. Exercise of Notary Duties (Draft Law on Amending and Supplementing Law No.06/L-010 on Notary, Amended and Supplemented by Law No.08/L-149)
3. Procedure for Protection of Consumer Rights (Draft Law on Consumer Protection)
4. Procedure for Acquisition of Citizenship (Draft Law on Citizenship of Kosovo)

10. Notification of Address by Foreigners Obtaining Residence Permit in Kosovo (Draft Law on Foreigners)

Secondary legal acts review

All 170 secondary legal acts were examined by the SPO for ABR purposes. Following the examination, 65 acts were determined relevant for ABR, while 105 acts were deemed irrelevant, as they did not involve administrative processes or service delivery.

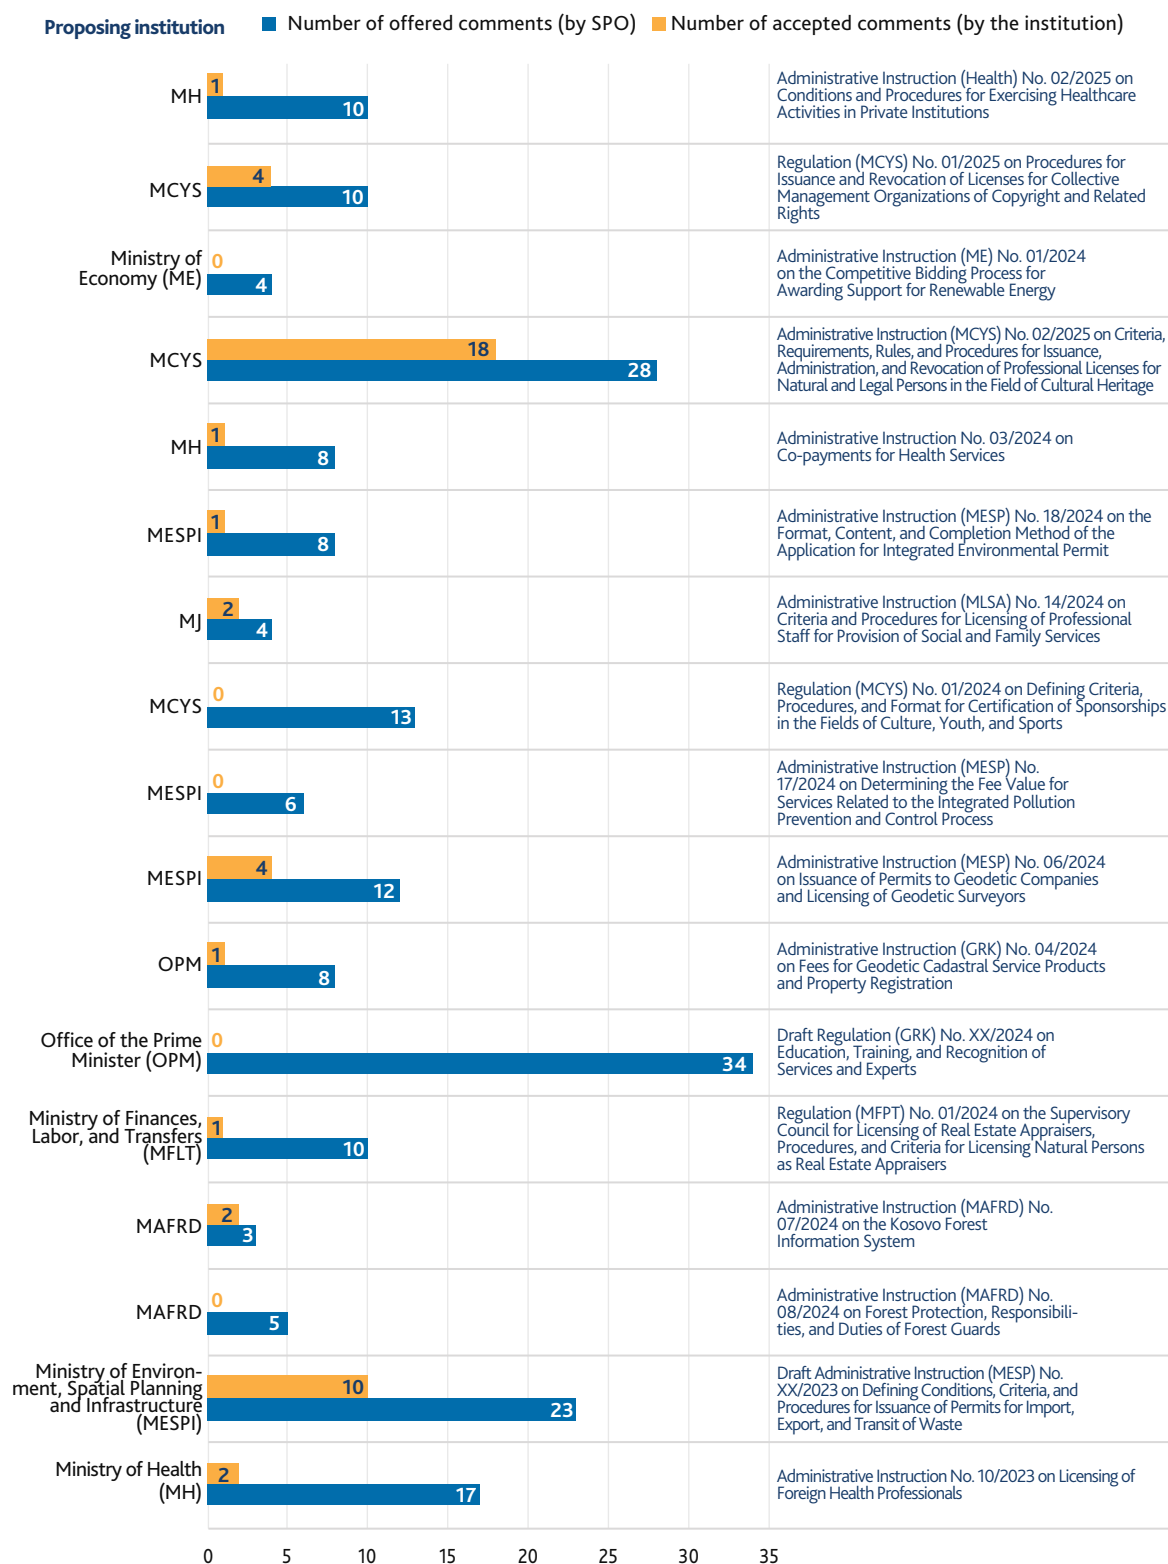

Among the 65 relevant acts, SPO either commented on or drafted them. Specifically, 40 acts were commented on within the ABR context, while 25 were fully drafted.

A total of 418 comments were provided on 40 acts. Out of these, 17 acts were approved by the Government. In the approved acts, a total of 203 comments were provided, of which 47 were addressed by the proposing institutions.

The breakdown of accepted comments by each proposing ministry is presented below:

From the 40 commented acts and the 25 drafted acts, a total of 12 services were simplified, as listed below:

1. Licensing of Foreign Health Professionals
2. Permit for Import, Export, and Transit of Waste
3. License for Exercising Healthcare Activities in Private Institutions
4. Issuance of Online Certificate for a Specific Parcel

Conclusions and Recommendations

The program for reducing the administrative burden, particularly in the area of prevention, is still in its early stages of implementation, both in terms of understanding and commitment to meaningful reform aimed at improving services through burden reduction. Despite the program's clear objectives and the proactive role of SPO in providing comments and proposals to minimize the administrative burden in legislative and sub-legislative acts, the level of institutional commitment to adopting these proposals remains limited. Many institutions have yet to fully integrate these recommendations into their legislative initiatives.

A noticeable disparity exists among institutions in their willingness to accept and implement proposals for reducing the administrative burden. While some have fully incorporated them, others have only partially accepted or disregarded them, despite the ABR program being a national strategic document with mandatory implementation. Although designated focal points (officials responsible for ABR) are in place within institutions, their role and responsibilities should be further strengthened to ensure the effective implementation of burden reduction measures in legislative initiatives.

The number of digitalized services is still limited, especially those that are digitalized end-to-end and which truly facilitate their receipt by businesses and citizens through electronic platforms, especially e-Kosova. The approach should be followed that in addition to their simplification, the same services should be fully digitalized, which implies their end-to-end delivery to citizens and businesses.

To enhance accountability and oversight, a monitoring mechanism should be established within the OPM to systematically track the implementation of administrative burden reduction proposals in legislative and sub-legislative acts proposed by institutions.

For legal acts that have administrative burdens, a mechanism should be established between the Government and the Assembly (relevant committees in the Assembly) to ensure that draft laws with reduced administrative burdens are approved in the Assembly with the same content as proposed by the Government.

For sub-legal acts, a mechanism should be established that, before their approval by the Government or the Ministry, obtain the mandatory consent of the SPO/OPM, which confirms that the same does not have an administrative burden and their provisions ensure the digitalization of public administrative processes and services.

The process of public consultations with citizens, businesses, civil society, also with institutions themselves should continue and extend for new policy, draft legal or sub-legal acts that potentially contains administrative burden.

The capacity building of civil servants should continue to understand and implement in practice all reforms related to the reduction of the administrative burden.
